Kelch adds two more aircrafts to its collection

The Kelch Aviation Museum welcomed two "new" vintage planes to the hangars located at N2463 Airport Road, in Brodhead.

"We're honored to care for these planes, and can't wait to put them on display for the summer," Pat Weeden, executive director, stated in a press release.

The Rose Parrakeet and 1938 Rearwin 850 Deluxe were donated on Dec. 31, 2021 and Jan. 1 respectively. Here's a bit about the aircrafts:

The Rose Parrakeet

Aviator Larry Steenstry of Elkhorn donated his original homebuilt Rose Parrakeet to the Kelch Aviation Museum.

Based on the 1929 design, the donor built this red-and-black biplane in 1996; over the years, he flew it to countless midwestern fly-ins, where it won numerous awards.

A true barnstormer, Steenstry flew the open-cockpit Parrakeet to Brodhead Airport on March 8 in below freezing temperatures.

"Charles Lindbergh would have been proud," Weeden said.

The Parrakeet is now a permanent part of the Kelch Aviation Museum's collection and will be on display during the summer season.

1938 Rearwin 8500 Deluxe

Longtime museum supporter Jim Hammond of Yellow Springs, Ohio, donated his 1938 Rearwin 8500 Deluxe in January.

An elegant, slender red monoplane, this Rearwin spent much of its life in the Midwest.

Restored by Al Nagel in the early 1970s, it won Reserve Grand Champion at Oshkosh in 1974 and 1975, and Contemporary Age Champion in 1976.

"It sports an 85 h.p. Ken-Royce engine and is airworthy, so keep on eye on the skies," Weeden said.

For more information about the museum, its collection and the new additions, or to donate to the non-profit, 5013c organization, visit kelchmuseum.org.

Transferable associate degree programs in the works for BTC

Blackhawk Technical College is one step closer to expanding its undergraduate program offerings after receiving approval April 8 from the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents to offer Associate of Arts and Associate of Science degrees. The final step to offering these new degrees is expected to come in May with approval from the Higher Learning Commission, Blackhawk's accrediting agency. The college has already received approval from the Wisconsin Technical College System (WTCS). The degrees, which are made possible through a partnership with the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater and UW-Whitewater at Rock County, will allow students to earn credits that can be put toward any bachelor's degree at UW-Whitewater or any four-year university. "We are so grateful to UW-Whitewater and UW-Whitewater at Rock County for their partnership. This is a watershed moment for Blackhawk Technical College by enhancing our ability to serve our community," Dr. Tracy Pierner, president of Blackhawk, stated in a press release. "This partnership and approval will provide more access to bachelor's degrees for all residents in Rock and Green counties. Historically, our region lags both state and national averages for bachelor attainment. Blackhawk will now be poised to be part of the solution to this workforce gap." Students will take general requirement courses at Blackhawk and at UW-Whitewater at Rock County that emphasize either arts or sciences based on their individual educational goals. This pathway enables students to receive all the cost savings and convenience of a liberal arts or sciences transfer degree while attending Blackhawk. "We are thrilled to partner with Blackhawk Technical College in order to provide additional high-quality educational opportunities for students," said Tricia Clasen, interim dean and assistant vice chancellor of UW-Whitewater at Rock County. "We are enthusiastic about the opportunity for future collaborations made possible by the work on these new pathways." Blackhawk is one of eight WTCS colleges that received Board of Regents approval Friday for Associate of Arts and Associate of Sciences degrees. Of the 16 WTCS institutions, 14 will offer these degrees. "Congratulations to Blackhawk Technical College and their stakeholders who supported this effort," said Dr. Morna K. Foy, WTCS president. "In response to the needs of local employers, K-12 partners, and economic and workforce development organizations, Blackhawk will provide expended educational opportunities for students in their communities."

Area student takes first place in DNR poster contest

A Monroe student was among the youngsters who the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) recently announced as winners of the Keep Wildlife Wild poster contest.

This year's theme is "If You Care, Leave Them There."

Submitted by fourth through sixth graders around the state, each poster helps spread the word about shared roles in keeping all wildlife healthy and, most importantly, wild.

"The Keep Wildlife Wild poster contest is a fun way for kids to help spread the important message to keep wildlife wild," Amanda Kamps, DNR Wildlife Health Conservation Specialist, stated in a press release. "We're thankful to the educators who incorporate environmental education into their classrooms and to all the students who help spread the word on what to do if you find a baby animal in the wild."

During the warmer months of spring and summer, the frequency of human-wildlife interactions increases, especially those involving baby animals.

Around this time of year, Wisconsinites take advantage of the warmer weather outdoors, and at the same time, wild animals are on the move, emerging in search of food, often with babies in tow. Most wildlife encounters are harmless, but sometimes well-intentioned people interfere in wildlife situations because they incorrectly assume a young animal is orphaned.

The Keep Wildlife Wild program encourages everyone to be a little wildlife savvy.

Protecting the health and well-being of wild animals starts with knowing about their natural behaviors and what to do if a baby animal truly needs help.

The poster contest is a fun way for kids to learn about Wisconsin wildlife and become environmental stewards.

Historical society to present Brodhead in the Roaring '20s

Brodhead Historical Society is kicking off the 2022 monthly meetings, free, and open to the public, with a presentation of Brodhead in the 1920s.

Prohibition, flappers, jazz and cars made for a lively modern era and fun-times, change of pace after the Great War.

"Put on your string of pearls, grab that malted milkshake, whistle 'Sweet Georgia Brown' or anything by Louis Armstrong," organizers say.

There will be fun and merriment as BHS President Jaine Winters shows artifacts from the museum, like flapper dresses, a working Victrola and 'modern convenience' electric washing machines, as she shares stories of events gleaned from our extensive collection of local newspapers.

Refreshments served will be of the era, and include delicious ice box cakes, bathtub gin, and more.

Electric refrigerators were just being introduced to local kitchens that were mostly equipped with iceboxes, and homemakers proudly offered guests desserts that required refrigeration.

The event will take place at Brodhead Depot Museum, 1108 1st Center Avenue, Knight addition on Monday, April 25 at 7 p.m. Enter on East 2nd Avenue. Parking is available in the Bank of Brodhead parking lot.

Green County on 'very high' fire alert

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is asking the public to stay vigilant and avoid burning because of very high fire danger across Wisconsin, particularly in the western half of the state.

The increased fire danger is due to a high pressure weather system, lack of significant rain and dry vegetation, primarily in the southern two-thirds of Wisconsin.

Areas with "very high" danger include Adams, Buffalo, Chippewa, Clark, Columbia, Crawford, Dane, Dunn, Eau Claire, Grant, Green, Green Lake, Iowa, Jackson, Juneau, La Crosse, Lafayette, Marquette, Monroe, Pepin, Pierce, Richland, St. Croix, Sauk, Taylor, Trempealeau, Vernon and Waushara counties.

All DNR issued annual and special burning permits for debris piles, burn barrels and prescribed burns are suspended in these counties where the DNR has burning permit authority.

As of April 12, the DNR has responded to 107 wildfires burning more than 276 acres so far this year. Nineteen of those were reported April 11, burning 120 acres. Most of these were related to debris burning.

Small fires for warming or cooking are allowed but highly discouraged, especially during the daytime, as any spark can cause a wildfire under these conditions.

Be extra careful with any outdoor flames, campfires, ash disposal or equipment use.

Please check any recent debris burns for smoldering embers, as breezy conditions can cause fires to rekindle.

Be fire smart. Remember - fire danger and burning restrictions change every day.

Fire safety tips

- Check before you burn; burn permits for debris burning will likely be suspended in several counties over the coming days until conditions improve.

- Operate equipment (chainsaws, off-road vehicles, lawn mowers, etc.) early in the morning or late in the day to avoid sparks at peak burn hours.

- Secure dragging trailer chains.

- Delay having campfires until the evening hours as fire conditions tend to improve; keep them small and contained.

- Report fires early, dial 911.

Check daily fire danger, wildfire reports and burning restrictions on the DNR website at bit.ly/WiFireDanger.

Applicants may attend a four-year university or a technical college.

To qualify, applicants must be a graduate of a Green County area high school or resident continuing their education after high school. Scholarships will be awarded after the student has successfully completed one semester of study and has sent the scholarship committee proof of re-enrollment for the next semester.

Up to $1,000 will be distributed annually at the discretion of the Green County Master Gardeners Association. Application deadline is Friday, April 30, and recipients will be announced in May.

For more information or to obtain an application contact Jackie McCarville, Ag Educator, at the Extension Green County Office at 608-328-9440. Applications are also available at green.extension.wisc.edu.

Law enforcement, advocates team up for sexual assault survivors

A dozen law enforcement and social service agencies have signed an agreement to participate in a new Rock County Sexual Assault Response Team (SART).

The purpose of the SART is to improve community and system response to sexual violence in Rock County.

An initiative of the Sexual Assault Awareness Program (SARP), which is part of Family Services of Southern Wisconsin & Northern Illinois, the team is community-based and multi-disciplinary.

Attendance is limited to professionals who work with victims/survivors of sexual violence and are stakeholders in this issue.

Members of the newly-developed SART are Family Services, which includes the Sexual Assault Recovery Program; Mercy Health Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE); the Rock County District Attorney's Office; YWCA of Rock County; the Rock County Sheriff's Office; and the following police departments: City of Beloit; Town of Beloit; Clinton; Edgerton; Evansville; Janesville; and Milton.

Team members said they are looking forward to working collaboratively to help survivors of sexual assault.

"The officers of the Edgerton Police Department are proud to be part of the SART. The expertise and professionalism of the group are assets to our department," said Chief Bob Kowalski of the Edgerton Police Department, in a press release. "The assistance provided to law enforcement at a time when a victim is the most vulnerable and emotionally traumatized is invaluable. We look forward to a long-term relationship with the Rock County SART."

The participating agencies and organizations have been working since 2019 to develop the Rock County SART, and this newly-signed memorandum of understanding represents the final step in building the foundation for moving forward.

"I think we need to give all members of the Rock County SART big kudos and huge thanks for all of the work that went into creating this team and its memorandum of understanding. As an advocate for survivors of sexual violence, I look forward to working with the dedicated professionals on this team," added Julie Reinhart, sexual assault survivor advocate with SARP.

As part of Family Services of Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois, Inc., SARP extends to survivors of sexual violence all the support offered by Family Services. This includes parenting support; therapy and counseling; legal advocacy; and community outreach.

In addition to the SARP, Family Services includes the following: DEFY Domestic Abuse; Individual & Family Counseling Program; Praxis Employee Assistance Program; Youth2Youth 4 Change; and The Neighborhood Resilience Project.

Family Services is a funded partner of United Way Blackhawk Region, United Way of Green County, and the Community Foundation of Southern Wisconsin.

Historical society seeking GM-related artifacts

The Rock County Historical Society (RCHS) is seeking artifacts related to the General Motors Janesville Assembly Plant, Fisher Body, the local UAW, and Janesville Auto Transport Co. site for its new Rock County Legacies exhibit.

Items may be donated or loaned to the RCHS. The new exhibit will focus on the rich history of the generations of people who worked at the GM Janesville Assembly Plant, affiliates, and suppliers.

Thousands of artifacts have already been donated by community members and Blackhawk Community Credit Union, which is collaborating with RCHS on the new Rock County Legacies project.

Anyone interested in donating or loaning one or more items to the Rock County Legacies project can contact Cara Kinzelman, RCHS assistant executive director and curator, at 608-756-4509 or via email at ckinzelman@rchs.us.

RCHS is planning a grand opening of its new Rock County Legacies exhibit for August 2022.

'Work Play Earth Day' returns this Friday

Help protect the planet; volunteer and recreate at area parks

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) recently announced Work Play Earth Day returns after a two-year hiatus due to COVID-19.

Wisconsinites have several opportunities to celebrate

Earth Day this Friday through acts of service and outdoor recreation at Wisconsin state parks throughout the month.

Earth Day was founded in 1970 by Wisconsin native Gov. Gaylord Nelson to raise awareness about air and water pollution.

Today Earth Day is observed around the globe and is commemorated as a full month of recognition, stewardship and celebration of the natural environment.

The public can participate in family-friendly activities that help enhance public lands.

These events lead to lasting enhancements, increased awareness, and continued support for the Wisconsin State Park System and local systems.

In 2019, nearly 1,500 volunteers logged 4,131 hours of service through the state-cleanup initiative.

"We are thrilled this year to celebrate Earth Day with the public at our beautiful parks, forests, trails and recreation areas," said Janet Hutchens, DNR Friends Group and volunteer coordinator. "Joining us for Work Play Earth Day is a great way to invest in our planet and enjoy the outdoors."

Work Play Earth Day activities happening around the state and in your backyard can include:

- Tree planting

Join the DNR celebrate Earth Day by volunteering at state parks throughout the month.

- Installing benches
- Removing invasive plants
- Painting picnic tables and other structures
- Raking and cleaning up leaves and picking up litter

Following service projects, volunteers are encouraged to stay, play and enjoy the great outdoors.

Anyone interested in volunteering for service projects are encouraged to sign up online through the DNR's volunteer portal at dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/parks/volunteer.

Both individuals and groups may sign up online.

Friends Groups are co-sponsoring several events at many properties and often provide lunches or refreshments.

A Friends Group is a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization whose members volunteer their time, services and support to enhance Wisconsin's state parks, forests, trails and recreation areas.

DNR has seedlings available for planting

Arbor Day is April 29, get digging

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is still accepting orders for the remaining tree seedlings to be planted this spring.

Planting seedlings from state nurseries is a great way to celebrate Arbor Day (April 29, 2022) which is dedicated to increasing the number of trees across the country to help improve the environment.

In 2021, Gov. Tony Evers signed an Executive Order pledging to protect and restore Wisconsin's forestland by planting 75 million trees by 2030 as part of the U.S. Chapter of the Global Trillion Trees Initiative.

Brodhead-area residents can help by ordering seedlings.

"Trees provide a variety of benefits to both people and the planet. They give off oxygen, trap carbon dioxide, feed and provide shelter for furry forest creatures and provide materials to build a variety of essential household items," said Heather Berklund, DNR Chief State Forester.

Wisconsin state nurseries have 1- and 2-year-old Red Oak, 1-year-old jack pine, 1-year-old black walnut, 2-year-old Red Pine, and 2-year-old Black Spruce available for purchase.

All seedlings are grown at the Wilson State Nursery in Boscobel and are well suited to their native Wisconsin soil. The minimum seedling order includes a packet of 300 seedlings in 100-count increments of selected species, 500 shrubs or 1,000 tree seedlings.

These seedlings must be planted in Wisconsin and are to be used in reforestation efforts, creating wildlife habitat, controlling erosion or constructing natural windbreaks.

For information on seedling availability or place an order, contact the nursery hotline at 715-424-3700.

To create a greener future this Earth Day – Rethink, Reuse and Refill

Humans produce over 380 million tons of plastic every year, according to Plastic Oceans. Because plastic doesn't biodegrade, it creates waste, litter and pollution. But there are steps you can take to reduce your own contribution to this mounting problem.

Here are a few ideas to consider this Earth Day:

Hold the plastic

Ordering in tonight? Chances are you don't need the plastic utensils that come with your meal. The good news is that many online food delivery platforms offer you the option of forgoing plastic forks, knives and spoons. If this option isn't available, you may be able to use a "special instructions" field to make the same request.

Write right

Switch to brands that are working toward sustainable solutions, such as Pilot Pen. Since 2007, Pilot has been producing premium pens with recycled content, like B2P.

B2P (or 'Bottle-2-Pen') Gel pens by G2 contain 89% post-consumer upcycled plastic, and are the world's first pens made of recycled plastic bottles. With 2.5 million plastic bottles entering landfills every hour in the United States, this is a good example of how companies can convert plastic into a valuable resource.

Ditch single-use items

Speaking of plastic bottles, the array of amazing reusable water bottles available today will have you breaking your single-use bottle habit in no time. Models today include all kinds of innovative features that make it easy to make the switch, including water filtration, insulation, sleek designs and built-in straws.

But refilling goes beyond just water bottles. Eighty-seven percent of Pilot's best-selling pen brands, including B2P, G2, Precise and erasable FriXion, are 100% refillable and reusable? Simply swap out the empty ink refill for a fresh one and use your favorite pen again and again. It's a small step you can take to create less plastic waste for continued use.

Small changes can lead to a big impact on Mother Earth.

Rethink your household routine

Studies show that 39% of shoppers in the United States want "sustainable" options. Roughly the same amount also look for premium quality from the items they choose for their families. So many household items are packaged in plastic, but more sustainable alternatives are available, from zero waste bathroom products to eco-friendly cleaning supplies. Product packaging is also getting eco-friendly updates. Roughly 77% of Pilot's retail packaging contains recycled materials, and the company is committed to continuing to increase this percentage in the coming years. Manufacturers like Pilot make it easier to make greener choices without having to give up your favorite products.

The small choices you make matter. By reducing your use of plastic today, you can help write the story of a more sustainable tomorrow.

4-H Foundation's Celebrate the Arts contest culminates in a virtual auction

The Wisconsin 4-H Foundation kicks off a week-long celebration of the arts with an online auction through Tuesday, April 26.

The online auction will feature the winning entries from the statewide 4-H art contest held last fall among other works.

Art created by 4-H artists as well as professional artists from Wisconsin, many of whom got their start in 4-H, will be offered during the online auction. In total, 28 pieces, featuring a variety of media from photography, painting, barn quilts, concert tickets and more, will be available for purchase during the event.

There will also be 4-H-themed jewelry for sale which are great gifts for any 4-Her.

The Best of Show announcement will kick off the festivities on the Wisconsin 4-H Facebook event page. Then until April 26 an online auction will be open with a Buy It Now option on some of the art pieces. Preview what's available at www.32auctions.com/Wisconsin4H.

The art created by 4-H youth was chosen at a statewide art contest held last fall.

More than 100 youth entries in eight categories were evaluated by a blue-ribbon panel of experts.

Eight category winners and eight honorable mention award winners will be sold during the celebration.

Proceeds from the event will be split with half invested in the Talent Endowment for 4-H Arts and half used for 4-H arts and communications programming over the next year.

"In 2021 youth worked on nearly 50,000 arts and communication projects, which comprise one of the largest project areas in Wisconsin 4-H.

These projects cover a wide array of interests from public speaking, dance and theater arts to photography, drawing and weaving." Brenda Scheider, executive director of Wisconsin 4-H Foundation, stated in a press release

"Involvement in youth arts and communications programs provide opportunities to explore and develop artistic awareness, creative potential and appreciation of the art and artistic process."

Based in Madison, the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation provides essential funding for 4-H programs throughout Wisconsin.

By partnering with individuals, corporations and foundations, the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation supports more than 150,000 youth who take part in various 4-H leadership, development and community-building activities throughout the state.
